F耐seber September 12-17, the Duke of Edinburgh’s Award was the focal host of a special Royal visit to Nunavut and Ontario by HRH The Earl & Countess of Wessex. Over the last decade, the Earl has made it a priority to visit the Canadian Award on an annual basis, traveling to all 10 provinces and one territory for Award events over the years.

In September, His Royal Highness met with young people with disabilities. The criteria for achieving an Award are based upon individual effort and improvement. To achieve an Award, each participant must complete four sections:

• Community service helps develop a sense of personal and community responsibility.
• Skills developed by pursuing and pursuing in an interest, develop creativity and personal discovery.
• Physical recreation promotes good health and a sense of achievement and satisfaction.
• Adventure journey cultivates a spirit of adventure, teamwork, and an appreciation of the environment.

There are 3 levels: Bronze, Silver & Gold. Young people participate either as individuals or through organizations such as schools, police services and youth groups.

The charter for business
A partnership between The Duke of Edinburgh’s Award and the Canadian Business Community for the Business was created in 1996 to help expand The Award’s work with disadvantaged young people. Some 60 corporations and individuals have become founding Partners of the Charter, pledging over $7 million to deliver the benefits of The Award to at-risk youth in five target communities: inner-city youth, aboriginal youth, young offenders, northern and rural youth, and young people with disabilities.

The Earl has made it a priority to visit the Canadian Award on an almost annual basis, traveling to all 10 provinces and one territory for Award events over the years.

In September, His Royal Highness met with young people with disabilities. The criteria for achieving an Award are based upon individual effort and improvement. To achieve an Award, each participant must complete four sections:

• Community service helps develop a sense of personal and community responsibility.
• Skills developed by pursuing and pursuing in an interest, develop creativity and personal discovery.
• Physical recreation promotes good health and a sense of achievement and satisfaction.
• Adventure journey cultivates a spirit of adventure, teamwork, and an appreciation of the environment.

There are 3 levels: Bronze, Silver & Gold. Young people participate either as individuals or through organizations such as schools, police services and youth groups.

The charter for business
A partnership between The Duke of Edinburgh’s Award and the Canadian Business Community for the Business was created in 1996 to help expand The Award’s work with disadvantaged young people. Some 60 corporations and individuals have become founding Partners of the Charter, pledging over $7 million to deliver the benefits of The Award to at-risk youth in five target communities: inner-city youth, aboriginal youth, young offenders, northern and rural youth, and young people with disabilities.