

Adventurous Journey (AJ) Debriefing Report

In addition to finishing your Adventurous Journey in the Online Record Book, you must also complete an Adventurous Journey Report/Debrief as a team.

This isn't meant to be formal; it's your team's way of sharing what you did on the trip, how you prepared for it and what you learned. We want to know more about the adventure and what impacted your team!

Decide with your team and Assessor the format for your debrief (i.e., debrief template, team meeting, slideshow, video, blog, photobook, audio recording etc.) and whether it needs to be uploaded on the ORB. Your team may also choose to upload your planning guide, daily team logbook, pictures, etc. Simply share your awesome experiences – we're eager to hear all about it!

What went well? What do you want to continue to see on the Qualifying Journey?	<ul style="list-style-type: none">- We worked really well together.- We all felt our communication skills with each other and being friends for so long helped.- We were able to talk and discuss the route changes without any fighting or bickering.

What was challenging? (for individuals and the team)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - We ran into sidewalk closures because of construction which was something we didn't think about. We then had to change our route on the fly and decide quickly what to do instead. - Katara wished we had worked out where we could top up our water and where we could take bio breaks in advance.
Is there any other training or skills your team needs to safely complete the Qualifying Journey?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - We are going to look up some more questions to ask staff and patrons when we're interviewing them. It felt like we didn't ask enough or the right ones sometimes.
Any other comments or notes? We felt the PJ went great, despite some small hiccups. We want to ask some more questions but feel ready for the Qualifying Journey!

	Notes:
What did you do?	<ul style="list-style-type: none">- We walked around downtown Calgary and looked at how accessible stores and restaurants are.- We took pictures of the automatic door buttons, ramps, etc. and talked to staff and patrons about things aisle width, accessible tables, bathrooms and change rooms.
What went well? What are you proud of?	<ul style="list-style-type: none">- We ended up visiting more stores than we planned, which gave us a better idea of the accessibility of the city. We also got to talk to more people this way too.- We got rained on during day two, but everyone kept their spirits up and had fun with it! No one complained about the rain at all.
What was challenging? (for individuals and the team)	<ul style="list-style-type: none">- We were a little socially awkward at first. Each of us would talk to the staff but it was uncomfortable. Everyone felt that way.- We also didn't enjoy the rain, it made note taking and finding an outdoor lunch spot harder as well.- The hostel was a noisy place, so sleep wasn't the best either at night. But we got through it!

Did you accomplish your team goal?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - We all feel like we accomplished the goal. We exceeded our number of places to visit, we got lots of info and data. - Some locations we went to even wanted to see our results so they could improve!
What would you do differently for future journeys?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - We'd pack more snacks and versatile meal options. We didn't want to buy food while walking around because of how expensive it can be, but we had to at one point because we just didn't have enough food with us.
What stood out? What did you learn? What are your take-aways from this experience?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - We learned a lot about the city and how some people get around with mobility aids. - It was eye opening to see how they can struggle with something like the button location or a couple inches to step up. - We have a new appreciation for the need for accessible stores, restaurants and city infrastructure.
Any other comments or notes? This AJ was a great experience. We met some lovely people, we learned a lot about our city and ultimately, we found we worked really well together, even under stress and uncomfortable circumstances. Everyone should look closer at the ways stores and cities make their locations accessible to all!
